FAM to INDIA

India Golden Triangle 8-Day Tour

Tour Fare: $499 per agent, $599 for companions, land only

Departure Date: 09-08-10

DELHI - AGRA - JAIPUR -DELHI

Contact Jason at Worldwide Tours on your website to book.

Had a Great time in India - we went to Mondavi to see the painted havelli's and Jaipur to see the Pink City.

We visited the Amber Fort, rode up on elephants, down in a jeep, went thru the bazaar in a rickshaw, and took a put-put through the city- the drivers are CRAZY here - they make Costa Rica drivers look like tame senior citizens...

How it works is if you start passing and if someone is coming the other direction, you just honk loudly and the guy coming the other way has to get off the road or slam on his brakes...what a system ! It is better to keep your eyes closed if you are in the front...

We bought carpets !

And clothes !!!

The food is AMAZING - I am going to have to start skipping a meal a day or they will have to return me to the plane in a wheelbarrow - all these multiple course meals - and everything is so good, you just have to try a bit !

We went by Gondawa City - where all the telemarketing is outsourced to - and saw the huge buildings housing tens of thousands of Indians answering US CS calls - now I have a picture in my mind the next time I get frustrated with a customer service person who doesn't speak English well....

If you are in the ATL area on May 15th, make sure to stop in to Jerome's house for some Zamzoo fellowship to celebrate Jerome Hughes and Donald Bradley's birthdays !

HAPPY MOTHERS DAY

Don't forget to email your website to everyone you know !

I am sending an e-mail to all my friends, co-workers and family members to order flowers through my site for Mother's Day. They are so beautiful and so affordable. Try it and expose

We went to Rantambor National Park and checked into a "rustic" hotel 1 mile from the Park gates. We were in the cabin right at the end, about 50 feet from the wall of the national park itself.

As soon as we checked in, Shukla, the waiter told us a man had been eaten by a tiger 15 days ago...the fence was only about 4 feet high - strolling the grounds in the evening became unappealing !

We had an INCREDIBLE view of a large female tiger - she walked right by us, about 10 meters from the jeep, and then we followed her down the track - got some Great pics !

The aggressive monkeys were actually jumping and bouncing off the jeep as we drove by - and we saw a peacock with his tail fully opened - the colors god gave him are vividly beautiful !

TAJ MAHAL

We drove to Agra and woke up at a ridiculous hour to get to the Taj Mahal for sunrise - it is a TRULY SPECTACULAR sight - all done in white marble and jewels - and it is immense - one of those "once in a lifetime" mornings...

I can't even imagine the money they spent to build it, and can't imagine anything similar ever being built again... The pictures just don't do it justice !

For all the mothers throughout the world:

This is for the mothers who have sat up all night with sick toddlers in their arms, wiping up barf laced with Oscar Mayer wieners and cherry Kool-Aid saying, "It's okay honey, Mommy's here"

Who have sat in rocking chairs for hours on end soothing crying babies who can't be comforted. This is for all the mothers who show up at work with spit-up in their hair and milk stains on their blouses and diapers in their purse.

For all the mothers who run carpools and make cookies and sew Halloween costumes.
And all the mothers who DON'T.

This is for the mothers who gave birth to babies they'll never see.
And the mothers who took those babies and gave them homes.

This is for the mothers whose priceless art collections are hanging on their refrigerator doors.

And for all the mothers who froze their buns on metal bleachers at football or soccer games instead of watching from the warmth of their cars, so that when their kids asked, "Did you see me, Mom?" they could say, "Of course, I wouldn't have missed it for the world," and mean it.

This is for all the mothers who yell at their kids in the grocery store and swat them in despair when they stomp their feet and scream for ice cream before dinner. And for all the mothers who count to ten instead, but realize how child abuse happens

This is for all the mothers who sat down with their children and explained all about making babies. And for all the (grand)

SOUTH INDIA

Let me tell you, Goa is a little piece of Paradise on Earth !

Sandy beaches fringed with palm trees, warm water, blue skies and sunshine.

Right in the palm line are little Coco Huts on stilts they rent for about $3 per night, overlooking the Arabian Sea.

Believe it or not, I went on a boat tour just after dawn to see the dolphins playing off the island at the point of the beach, and then onto Butterfly Beach. (wearing my anti-seasick wristbands and eating Graval pills)

The atmosphere is so laid back and everyone is so friendly - it is like a different country than the North !
We met guitar-playing Irishmen, backpacking Norwegians, and hilarious Scots !!!

By the 2nd day all the locals are calling you by name and asking how you are...

Lots of incredible old Portuguese churches and architecture in the towns, beach after beach almost deserted - you can walk for miles without seeing a soul.

I really enjoyed Palolem - the locals have all risen up and fought any large hotels being built, so it is all small local places to stay, eat and drink.

I don't think a trip to India would be complete without experiencing a bit of Goa - the sunsets and the peace were amazing !

mothers who wanted to, but just couldn't find the words.

This is for all the mothers who go hungry, so their children can eat.

For all the mothers who read "Goodnight, Moon" twice a night for a year. And then read it again. "Just one more time."

This is for all the mothers who taught their children to tie their shoelaces before they started school. And for all the mothers who opted for Velcro instead.

This is for all the mothers who teach their sons to cook and their daughters to sink a jump shot.

This is for every mother whose head turns automatically when a little voice calls "Mom?" in a crowd, even though they know their own offspring are at home - or even away at college.

This is for all the mothers who sent their kids to school with stomach aches, assuring them they'd be just FINE once they got there, only to get calls from the school nurse an hour later asking them to please pick them up. Right away.

This is for mothers whose children have gone astray, who can't find the words to reach them.

For all the mothers who bite their lips until they bleed when their 14 year olds dye their hair green.

For all the mothers of the victims of recent school shootings, and the mothers of those who did the shooting.

For the mothers of the survivors, and the mothers who sat in front of their TVs in horror, hugging their child who just came home from school, safely.

This is for all the mothers who taught their children to be peaceful, and now pray they come home safely from a war.

NEPAL

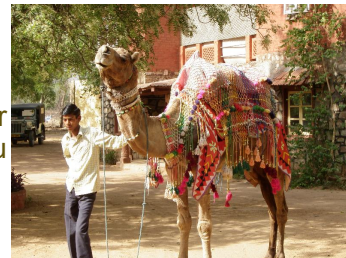

Wow - what a country !

Arrived in Kathmandu to find a city fogged in with pollution !

They only have electricity 84 hours per week (usually not during the hours you need it !)

It has a very funky tourist walking district with all kinds of shops and cafe's.

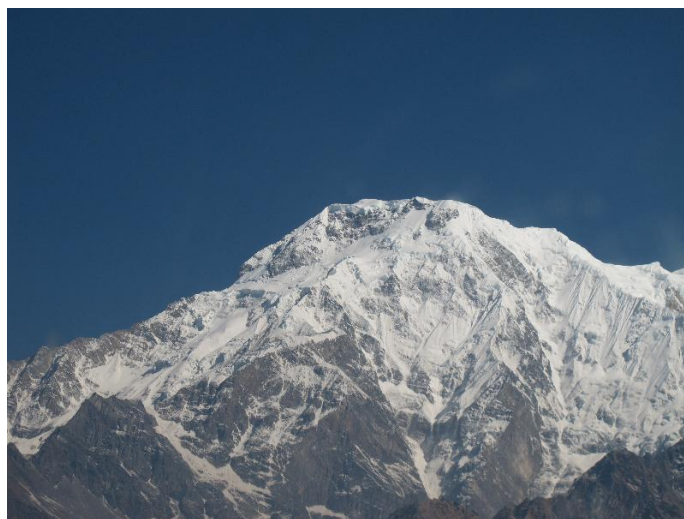

The government is supposed to have a constitution ready in 6 weeks, but it doesn't look like it is going to be agreed on and who knows what is going to happen ???

We drove up to the little lakeside village of Pakhara, at the foot of the Himalayas- 6 hours of hairpin turns through the mountains ! It was a whole different feel - looking up at the snow-capped peaks was incredible !

After 2 days I felt like I had lived there forever...this is where my Aunt and Uncle spent 27 years as missionaries.

I REALLY wanted to go trekking, but there wasn't enough time this trip ! You need to go up slowly to acclimatize and avoid altitude sickness.

We saw Hindu cremation ceremonies and talked to Gurus.

We went down to the lowlands and went to Chitwan National Park. The first day, I got talked into climbing up onto an elephant in the river, and got "showered" by his trunk !

He would suck in a trunk full of water and shoot it over his head at me while I was standing on his back - a really different experience ! (we did get it on video !)

What makes a good Mother anyway?

Is it patience? Compassion? Broad hips? The ability to nurse a baby, cook dinner, and sew a button on a shirt, all at the same time?

Or is it in her heart? Is it the ache you feel when you watch your son or daughter disappear down the street, walking to school alone for the very first time?

The jolt that takes you from sleep to dread, from bed to crib at 2 A.M. to put your hand on the back of a sleeping baby?

The panic, years later, that comes again at 2 A.M. when you just want to hear their key in the door and know they are safe again in your home?

Or the need to flee from wherever you are and hug your child when you hear news of a fire, a car accident, a child dying?

The emotions of motherhood are universal and so our thoughts are for young mothers stumbling through diaper changes and sleep deprivation...

And mature mothers learning to let go.

For working mothers and stay-at-home mothers.

Single mothers and married mothers..

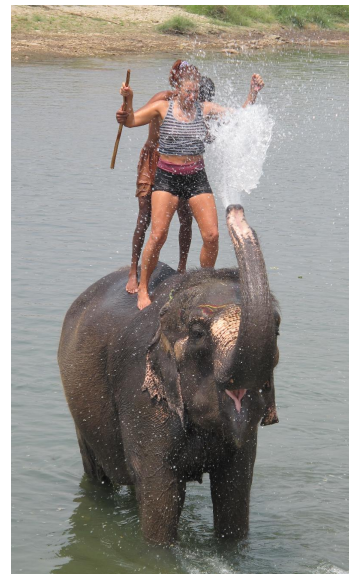

Mothers with money, mothers without.

This is for you all. For all of us

Hang in there. In the end we can only do the best we can. Tell them every day that we love them. And pray.

Please pass along to all the Moms in your life.

"Home is what catches you when you fall - and we all fall."

The following day we went on an elephant safari through the park and saw one-horned rhinos, monkeys, deer, and crocodiles- quite an adventure, on the back of an elephant !

I figured being on top of an elephant was the least likely place to get attacked by a tiger !

Then they took us on a canoe safari - 10 of us in a little dugout canoe that felt like it was going to tip over and someone kept rocking it as we went down the alligator infested river !

We also visited an elephant breeding center and saw the first set of twins to survive - they were adorable and came up to us looking for food with their trunks.
